

The Union of Minority Neighborhoods'
Boston Busing /Desegregation Project Presents

What's Your Story?

- Of Boston's Busing Desegregation/Crisis -
3 ways to tell your story, connect then to now,
and talk about equity, access and excellence in the city and its schools:

1. Have your story RECORDED in a one-on-one interview for our online story archive (to be launched in May 2013)

2. Attend a Story Circle in a community near
you. Roxbury and Hyde Park in November 2012;
Dorchester in December 2012; More in 2013

3. Learn to craft a five minute story in our Storytelling Workshop series. January—
February 2013; BBDP Story Slam February 8th
(details to follow—save the date!)

There are so many ways to tell a story; which one will you choose? If you want to tell your story about Boston's busing/desegregation crisis and issues of equity, access and excellence in the city you can:

a) email meghandoran@umnunity.org;

b) call 617-522-3349, or

c) visit our website: bbdproject.org and leave a comment with your contact info.
